Special message to group leaders:

The staff at The Philadelphia Project are excited to be your partner in providing a great mission trip experience for your teens & young adults. We take care of the details involved in making a home-repair mission trip happen, freeing you & your leaders to focus on the most important part of one of our trips: building relationships with the teens. By joining hands with us, you can be sure of a quality mission experience while remaining free to invest your time in the spiritual development of those in your group. Our prayer is that your teens experience Christ's love & power during their time with The Philadelphia Project.
